

Dear FCC, I understand that you are introducing a new broadcast service called LPFM. I understand that this may wipe out some radio broadcasts on the FM translators. I am concerned about this because I listen to K-Love radio which is a wholesome, Christian radio station that brings good news to our community and children. K-Love is unique in that they play contemporary Christian music unlike other Christian stations that only play old gospel songs. I believe the contemporary Christian Music speaks more to our younger high school and college aged children more than the older gospel hymns. Taking away this band or substitution of this band would destroy a much needed service to our community. Please reconsider the action of allowing the LPFMs to take priority over current FM translator services. Thank you for your attention to this letter.
